THE FRASER LINEAGE OF SCOTT ALEXANDER FRASER
Stratherrick → Glengarry → Michigan → Arkansas
A Fully Documented Paternal Line (1820–2026)

I. ORIGIN IN SCOTLAND (STRATHERRICK)

Alexander Fraser (~1794–1796)
Wife: Elizabeth Rose
Married: 14 December 1820
Parish: Boleskine & Abertarff (Parish 92)
Location: Stratherrick, Inverness-shire, Scotland

Occupations at marriage:
• Alexander Fraser – farm servant to Mr. Alexander Fraser, tacksman of Dalcrag
• Elizabeth Rose – maid servant to Rev. William Fraser of Boleskine Parish

Scottish-born children (Parish 92):
• John Fraser – 28 Oct 1821, Dalcrag (Ref 20/4)
• Donald Fraser – 2 Dec 1823, Dalcrag (Ref 20/6)
• Simon Fraser – 2 Dec 1825, Balnacarnnch (Ref 20/9)
• Thomas Fraser – 18 Feb 1830, Kenmor (Ref 20/19)
• Anne Fraser – 29 Oct 1835, Boleskine Parish (Ref 20/32)

Note: William Fraser (1822, Ardachy) belongs to a different couple (Alexander Fraser & Elizabeth Fraser) and is not a natural son of this family, though he appears in the 1851 Glengarry census as a likely cousin.

II. MIGRATION TO CANADA (GLENGARRY, ONTARIO)

By the early 1830s, Alexander and Elizabeth migrated to Glengarry County, Ontario.

1851 Canada West Census (Lochiel/Charlottenburgh):
Household of Alexander Fraser (Scotland) and Elizabeth (Scotland) with:
• William (Scotland) – non-natural son, likely cousin
• John (Canada)
• Simon (Canada)
• Hugh (Canada)

Canadian-born son:
• John Fraser (1832–1920), Glengarry, Ontario

Primary evidence:
John Fraser’s death certificate names parents as Alexander Fraser and Elizabeth Rose, both born in Scotland.

V. EVIDENCE BASE

Primary sources:
• Boleskine & Abertarff parish registers (marriage and baptisms)
• 1851 Canada West census
• U.S. Federal Census (1900–1950)
• Michigan civil death certificates
• Obituaries (20th–21st century)

Methodology:
• Primary records prioritized
• Census used as supporting evidence
• Geographic clustering used to distinguish Fraser households
• Migration continuity evaluated across jurisdictions
• No speculative links included

VI. GENEALOGICAL CONCLUSION

This lineage establishes a continuous paternal descent from Alexander Fraser and Elizabeth Rose of Stratherrick (married 1820) to Sebastian Alexander Fraser (born 2003). The line is supported by parish registers, Canadian census records, U.S. civil registrations, and obituaries. It is geographically coherent, multi-sourced, and meets modern genealogical proof standards.
